Time Division

No one knew, when it began, but suddenly two timelines merged. And two time agencies came into being. It is impossible to tell which one of the two is the original, and the denizens of the animalverse have been left to wonder whether both are working for the good, or if perhaps one harbors a darker agenda?

Either way, there are now two entities manipulating the flow of time to their own advantage. What a bummer!

Time Division is a time travel duel for two people, where you try to master the time nodes to survive in time. The 2 person connoisseur game offers three playable decks with different difficulties. Decide for yourself which era you want to play or

Once upon a time, 3 big cats became exhausted fighting to be top cat. They agreed to quit the fight and spice up their 9 lives with a hot spice eating contest! Alas, everyone was soon cheating, so the cats invented a very hot, often tearful, bluffing game.

This clever card game isn't just about bluffing. For you can almost always play a card that is at least half right if you cleverly play your hand. This means tactically deciding which card to use to get through and outsmart your opponents. This worldwide card game hit convices with a total of 40 independent artworks. In addition, not only the game box sparkles in chic metallic gold, but also the card backs are adorned with a gold-colored finish.

Spicy is a fantastic card game! it's fun to lie and bamboozle your friends about the cards in your hand. It's a particularly striking game, and the kind of game that will stick in your mind long after you've played it just on art alone. 8.75/10 What's Eric Playing? 2023

Spicy from HeidelBÄR Games understands the virtue of simplicity, but also never forgets that games are meant to be played by people around a table lauging at each other. It's sharp, fast and funny. Tremendous fun. 5 Games 4 Doomsday Podcast 2021

Once Coyote crossed the river with his friends when he almost drowned and lost all his belongings. Coyote became sad ... and also jealous. So he challenged the other animals to a bluffing game to win their belongings. They accepted, but it was more difficult than expected to detect Coyotes bluffs, for in this game no one knows the whole truth.

In this bluffing game, you only ever see each other's cards, but never your own. Then, when all the cards are revealed, you'll find out who has the cunning coyote on their side.

Anansi

Some say Anansi is a trickster, but he is a spider for sure and sometimes even a man.

He is also called the "Keeper of Stories," because he collected all the stories, to then realize that true wisdom is gained only by inspiring others with your stories, for untold tales are of little value.

Anansi is a unique tricktaking game where you have to constantly adjust your tactics.

Fish & Katz

The good old people who run their stalls at the famous Korean fish market Jagalchi sometimes need a little rest from their hard work. While they take a nap, their loyal cats take over and manage the booth. The cats love their owners, but they also love fish. What could go wrong?

Put on cute cat paws and grab the fish! On the count of 3, all of you simultaneously swipe at a fish on display. Whoever's paw is alone on a fish wins it—if there are several paws, the fish goes to the discard pile. Sets of at least 3 identical fish grant paw points.

CHANGE IS GROWING

For several years now,

Trees for the Future has joined us as a competent partner in sustainable engagement. For every sold copy of one of our new games, the organisation plants a tree.

This way, degraded land turns into forest gardens, where carbon gets absorbed and biodiversity increases. In addition to a better ecosystem, farmers also benefit financially from the gardens' outcomes

Since its foundation in 1989. Trees for the Future has been active in over 50 countries. Over 278 millions of trees have been planted. Since 2014, the organisation focuses on nine chosen countries in Sub-Saharan Africa, where climatic and economical challenges urge the most and the biggest impact can be monitored.
